The Finest Expressions of French Wine

The background of the entire page is a warm, golden-hour photograph of a French countryside. In the foreground, a stone building with a balcony is partially visible on the left, with green vines hanging down. On the balcony, there is a round table set with a bottle of red wine, two glasses of red wine, a vase of lavender, and some small bowls. The background shows a village with a prominent church spire, surrounded by rolling hills and vineyards under a soft, hazy sky.

INTRODUCTION

Genuine character. Proven reliability.
Long-term relationships.

The French estates that follow have been selected against the same criteria we apply across every partnership.

They belong in this collection because they meet the filter — nothing less.

OUR TEAM

Ingrid Valentina Vincent

Founder & Managing Director

Ingrid, a background in economics and commerce, founded Vincent & Sons, building a specialist platform around a clear standard: character, provenance and reliability. She leads the company's strategy, estate relationships and long-term direction, ensuring that every partnership meets the filter we apply and that the business remains focused on quality over breadth.

German Müller

Master Blender & Winemaker

German brings a rare double expertise in wine and tobacco to Vincent&Sons, trained in Argentina and Italy in both disciplines.

On the tobacco side, he spent 26 years developing blends across Panama and Nicaragua, and today serves as Master Blender for the entire Traveller Cigars and Maradona ranges.

On the wine side, he's spent more than 25 years as a technical and commercial consultant across different countries, including 16 years as a professor in Argentina. Today his wine work is focused on Italy and France, where he leads the selection of French wines for Vincent&Sons.

Two crafts, one patient eye for quality — we're thrilled to have German split his time between tobacco and wine here at Vincent&Sons.

CHAMPAGNE

CHARLES COLLIN

Established in 1952 in the heart of Côte des Bars, Maison Charles Collin brings together the finest vineyards from over 140 winegrowers, covering almost 330 hectares. All the crus are located in one of the world's most suitable terroirs for Pinot Noir production.

The winery is one of the most modern in the entire Champagne region, developing special vinification techniques for "vin clair". This ensures greater longevity and vitality for the final product. Charles Collin maintains a permanent stock of approximately 3 million bottles in its cellars. Considering the average ageing period on the lees of its wines, annual production stands at around one million bottles, with increasingly significant growth.

LOIRE

REINE DE LIGER

The grapes are hand-harvested to ensure optimal quality. After gentle, controlled pressing, the must ferments at low temperature to preserve the fresh, fruity aromas of the grape varieties. A second fermentation in bottle, following the traditional method, creates the fine, delicate bubbles that characterize Crémant de Loire.

FRONSAC, LIBOURNE

CHÂTEAU LA DAUPHINE

The vines are planted on south-facing slopes across 66 hectares of land shaped as an amphitheatre. The soil is rich and generous, offering 14 different soil types to the vineyards. Over the past 10 years, the vineyards have been converted to organic and biodynamic farming.

The château takes its noble title from Princess Maria Josepha of Saxony, Dauphine of France, whose stay contributed to name's reputation. The year 2015 marked a new chapter in the estate's history when it entered the Labrune family group and, in the same year, obtained certification for biodynamic agriculture.

CHÂTEAU FAYAT

Since 2009, Château Fayat has pursued its quest for precision with determination. The soils and subsoils, comprising 31 parcels coming from three distinct soil types, form Château Fayat and offer a unique complexity that has become the estate's signature. A true mosaic of terroirs: sands, clays and gravels coexist across 15 hectares. Promesse de Château Fayat is the estate's second wine.

SAINT-EMILION

CHÂTEAU VALANDRAUD

In the early 1990s, a banker with a passion for wine named Jean-Luc Thunevin, together with his wife Murielle Andraud, decided to produce a great wine in Saint-Émilion. Starting from a half-hectare parcel, he began vinifying in his own garage. After a few years of experience in rather difficult vintages, as soon as a good year arrived – 1995 – the wine was sent to Robert Parker, who awarded it a score higher than that of Pétrus.

Château carneandraud is the fruit of the immense work of Jean-Luc Thunevin and Murielle Andraud. The name derives from the geographical location (Valon de Fongaban) and Murielle's surname (Andraud). This château was classified Premier Grand Cru Classé in 2012 in the Saint-Émilion classification. The success of Château Valandraud inspired the creation of a denomination, Vin de Garage (Garage Wine), which qualifies wines produced voluntarily in small quantities.

SAINT-ÉMILION

CHÂTEAU LA DOMINIQUE

Ideally situated in the north-west of the Saint-Émilion appellation, Château La Dominique has been a vineyard since the 16th century. Close to Châteaux Cheval Blanc, Figeac, L'Évangile and La Conseillante, the vineyard has been owned by the Fayat family since 1969. Today, the estate wisely combines authenticity and modernity with its contemporary winery designed by architect Jean Nouvel. Relais de la Dominique is the estate's second wine.

SAINT-JULIEN HAUT-MEDOC

CHÂTEAU LAGRANGE

Located in the village of Saint-Laurent-de-Médoc, the vineyards are situated on a hill facing west. The soil is made of clay and gravel over a subsoil of clay and limestone. Surface area: 17.50 hectares of red vines. At first, manual sorting is carried out on whole bunches to remove any that have imperfections. A latest-generation grape destemmer, less damaging to the grapes, is used. Intra-parcel selection is achieved thanks to 102 vats. The content of the vats is selected based on grape variety, vine age, “terroir” and grape maturity.

Stainless steel vats from 220 hl to 36 hl with temperature control, moderate pump-overs daily, pigeage. Maceration lasts from 18 to 25 days. Selection of the free-run wine and of the press wine. Blending selection of the “Grand Vin” (Château Lagrange) and of the second wine (Les Fiefs de Lagrange). In January, after the harvest, 12% press wine goes to Château Lagrange, 35% to Château Lagrange and 65% to Fiefs de Lagrange. Average age of vines producing Château Lagrange: 42 years.

MARGAUX

CHÂTEAU MONBRISON

Château Monbrison stands on one of the highest rises in the Margaux appellation. Once a farm of Château d'Arsac, the property has been independent since 1749 and has belonged to the Von Der Heyden family since 1921; Laurent Vonderheyden runs it today, with Grégory Brun as technical director and Éric Boissenot as consulting oenologist.

Its thirteen and a fifth hectares of vines are rooted in the gravel of the Poujeaux plateau. The vines, now over thirty-five years old, have been producing wines of great finesse and depth for a good decade. Hand harvesting into small crates with plot-by-plot selection, eighteen months in French oak barrels. Alongside the grand vin the estate makes Bouquet de Monbrison, its second wine, also in the Margaux appellation.

HAUT-MÉDOC

CHÂTEAU LA TOUR CARNET

Named after the manor lord who helped his lord resist the Kings of France at the end of the Hundred Years' War, Château La Tour Carnet played an important role in the revolution of the Médoc vineyards, and the quality of its wine was rewarded with inclusion in the 1855 Grands Crus Classés classification.

It is with the passion and the high standards for which he is known that Bernard Magrez has committed to raising his Haut-Médoc Grand Cru Classé even higher. The use of the most modern techniques, such as the drone acquired by Bernard Magrez to analyse the parcels, has made it possible to optimise the virtues of these soils by assigning them the most suitable grape varieties: the butte (mound) is a terroir favourable to Merlot, while the hills are more suited to Cabernet.

HAUT-MEDOC

CHÂTEAU CLEMENT-PICHON

Located near Bordeaux, in the south of the Haut-Médoc appellation, the history of Château Clément-Pichon dates back to the 14th century. Since its restructuring in 1979, the vineyard has dominated the appellation with its 25 hectares of vines. In 2018, the acquisition of Château Aney (15 hectares) will strengthen the production of Clément-Pichon.

Now classified as Cru Bourgeois Supérieur, the vineyard benefits from a notable north-south exposure and the terroir offers sandy soils on dry gravel. In some areas, the vines benefit from clay in the subsoil that allows them to capture ideal freshness.

BORDEAUX - ENTRE DEUX MERS

CHÂTEAU CLOU DU PIN

In 1950, Huguette and Angelo Fontana, then in their twenties, had a dream in mind and settled in the small Girondin town of Gensac to found Domaines Fontana. It was no coincidence that they chose Gensac: it was the richness of the land that determined the planting of their vineyard. Then began the work of a lifetime — Huguette and Angelo planted vines and built a winery.

Over the generations this legacy has grown, and today the grandchildren have in turn joined the Domaines Fontana estates, which by 2021 extend over more than 300 hectares. They bring with them their own modernity, fresh perspective, dynamism and youth, sharing a common desire to pass on this passion for the vine and for wine.

CHÂTEAU HAUT-RIOT

Vignobles Latorse: generations of custodians of the land, and later of the vine, have followed one another for four generations, shaping their wines like a family. On their estates in the Bordeaux region, in Entre-Deux-Mers, they cultivate both the vine and a pioneering spirit.

In 1948, Albert Latorse acquired a neighbouring 40-hectare property, “Riot”, devoted to mixed farming. In the mid-1980s their vineyard became the first Entre-Deux-Mers estate (Sauvignon Blanc), and the estate then comprised 130 hectares of vines. The family has a pronounced taste for boldness and innovation.

BOURGOGNE - CHABLIS

MAISON JEANNE BASSY

Located near Auxerre, in the Yonne department, the Chablis vineyards run alongside a small river named the Serein. The earliest traces of vines in Chablis date back to Roman times. From the 12th century onward, Cistercian monks succeeded in developing its winegrowing culture.

Established in January 1938, the Appellation d'Origine Contrôlée Chablis Premier Cru confirms the excellence of this dry white wine, which, better than other vineyards, has managed to maintain its leading position thanks to a quality grape variety (Chardonnay) throughout its history.

CLOSERIE DES ALISIERS

The son of a Chablis winemaker, Stéphane Brocard founded his estate in Marsannay in 2007, establishing Closerie des Alisiers. In addition to the vines he owns in Pommard and in the historic wine village of Daix, he works with the same growers and the same parcels year after year to offer wines that match his philosophy: wines built on purity, fruit and freshness.

The relief along the Serein river, the Kimmeridgian soil and the single grape variety used, Chardonnay, all contribute to producing this unique wine. The soil is made up of Kimmeridgian limestone, rich in marine fossils, including small comma-shaped oysters. This gives the wine its citrus and iodine notes, its distinctive minerality and, above all, a freshness that is unique among the wines of this region.

A black and white photograph of a village scene. In the foreground, there are dense, leafy bushes and trees. In the middle ground, a row of white buildings with dark roofs is visible. Behind them, a church with a prominent spire stands out. The background shows rolling hills under a clear sky. A large, irregular yellow shape, resembling a map of France, is overlaid on the left side of the image. The text "CLOSERIE DES ALISIERS ●" is printed in white within this yellow shape.

JUSTIN GIRARDIN

The first traces of the Girardin family in Burgundy date back to 1570. Farmers for 13 generations, the family long practised mixed farming, combining crop harvesting, livestock breeding and viticulture. It was only at the end of the Second World War that the family specialised in winemaking.

In the late 1950s and 1960s, Jean Girardin acquired numerous plots in the best terroirs of Santenay and began developing his estate. Jacques and Valérie, Justin's parents, continued this effort, expanding into Chassagne-Montrachet, Pommard and Savigny-lès-Beaune. Through inheritance and other succession arrangements, the estate has continued to grow, today covering 17 hectares of vineyards in the finest terroirs of the Côte de Beaune.

POUILLY-FUISSÉ

MARCEL DE NORMONT

Pouilly-Fuissé is the most prestigious vineyard of the Mâcon region. Often rivalling the wines of Chablis, it is marked by a green colour with golden highlights that carries a wine of finesse and distinction: the terroir favours a harmonious ripening of the grapes and allows rich aromas to develop, with notes of hazelnut and toasted almond. Rich, full of vitality and fragrant, Pouilly-Fuissé is generous and flavourful.

SANCERRE

LAETITIA DUCROUX

Sancerre AOC, set on a hillside on the left bank of the river, is one of the most celebrated appellations among the great wines of the Loire. Surrounded by slopes carved by the river, it is the perfect embodiment of the notion of terroir and its influence on the grape varieties — Sauvignon in particular — giving rise to a great range of aromatic nuances that make Sancerre an elegant and distinctive wine.

CHATEAUNEUF DU PAPE

PAPE CLEMENT

Château Pape Clément is one of the oldest Grands Crus of Bordeaux. Its vineyard — the first harvest took place in 1252 — was planted in the 12th century by Bertrand de Goth, the youngest son of a noble family from the Bordeaux region. Bertrand de Goth became Pope in 1305 under the name Clement V, and it is from him that the château and its wine take their name, which has since become iconic.

The estate has lived through the history of France, through wars and vicissitudes of every kind, until 1939, when it was purchased by Paul Montagne, who, after the Second World War, began a program of restoration and renewal of the vineyards that restored the château to the level of its noble and ancient origins. This process was completed by Bernard Magrez, at the helm of the estate since 1980, who has been able to raise the Château Pape Clément labels to the qualitative pinnacle of the appellation.

LANGUEDOC

DOMAINE SAINTE LEOCADIE

At the centre of the great Mediterranean vegetation, our ancestors entrusted us with this age-old vineyard, which descends gently over dry-stone terraces and red earth.

Leocadia, patron saint of the Visigoth kings who ruled this land more than a thousand years ago, from Toulouse to Toledo, tells us that this place has been cultivated since ancient times. She tells of a distant past, when the fortified town of Aigne, at the heart of the Minervois, made this magnificent land of vines and olive trees flourish.

BORDEAUX - SAUTERNES

CHÂTEAU PARTARRIEU

Château Partarrieu, an 11-hectare estate in the commune of Fargues, lies just east of Château Rieussec and north of Château de Fargues.

This 150-year-old property was purchased in 1993 from the previous co-owner of Château Suduiraut, by Philippe Mercadier and Jacqueline Tuyttens-Laville, whose principal interest is in vineyards and who are passionate about the wines of Sauternes. When this small, outstanding property came up for sale, they seized the opportunity to add it to their holdings.

ENTRE-DEUX-MERS

CHÂTEAU BEL AIR

The wines of Château Bel Air La Perrière are made mainly from Merlot, complemented by Cabernet Sauvignon and Cabernet Franc.

it was in 1720 that wine was first produced at château bel air la perriere. the name of this bordeaux château derives, as one might expect, from two vineyards – “bel air” and “la perriere”. they are located near the town of gresillac, in the bordeaux appellation of entre-deux-mers.

both château bel air la perriere sites are situated in a “frost protection zone” with excellent sun exposure. as a result, vintage variations tend to be less pronounced, keeping the wines consistently at a high level.

TOKAJI - UNGHERIA

CHÂTEAU HELLHA

An extreme vineyard in the northernmost part of eastern Hungary, the Tokaji appellation covers 5,000 hectares around the small village of Tokaj. At the heart of this legendary vineyard, Château Hellha is rich in the diversity of terroirs found within this area of Grands Crus Classés. Historic cellars carved from the rock allow the wines to age according to tradition and under ideal conditions of temperature and humidity.
